Dear FOIA Officer:

Citizens for Responsibility and Ethics in Washington (“CREW”) makes this request pursuant to the Freedom of Information Act (“FOIA”), 5 U.S.C. § 552, and General Services Administration (“GSA”) regulations.

First, CREW requests all email communications sent to, copied to, received by, or sent by GSA Administrator Emily Murphy, Deputy Administrator Allison F. Brigati, Chief of Staff Robert Borden, General Counsel Jack St. John, Associate Administrator for the Office of Government-wide Policy Jessica Salmoiraghi, or Mary Gibert, Associate Administrator for the Office of Civil Rights and Federal Transition Coordinator from November 1, 2020 to the present regarding the process by which the GSA Administrator can or should “ascertain” the “apparent successful candidates” for President and Vice President in the 2020 presidential election.

Second, CREW requests any guidance or legal opinion created by GSA employees from January 1, 2000 to the present regarding the process by which the Administrator can or should “ascertain” the “apparent successful candidates” for President and Vice President in a presidential election.

Please search for responsive records regardless of format, medium, or physical characteristics. We seek records of any kind, including paper records, electronic records, audiotapes, videotapes, photographs, data, and graphical material. Our request includes without limitation all correspondence, letters, emails, text messages, facsimiles, telephone messages, voice mail messages, and transcripts, notes, or minutes of any meetings, telephone conversations, or discussions. Our request also includes any attachments to emails and other records, as well as emails to which the subjects of this request were cc’ed or bcc’ed.

If it is your position any portion of the requested records is exempt from disclosure, CREW requests that you provide it with an index of those documents as required under Vaughn v. Rosen, 484 F.2d 820 (D.C. Cir. 1973). If some portions of the requested records are properly exempt from disclosure, please disclose any reasonably segregable non-exempt portions of the requested records. See 5 U.S.C. § 552(b). If it is your position that a document contains non-exempt segments, but that those non-exempt segments are so dispersed throughout the document as to make segregation impossible, please state what portion of the document is non-exempt, and how the material is dispersed throughout the document. See Mead Data Central v. U.S. Dep't of the Air Force, 566 F.2d 242, 261 (D.C. Cir. 1977).

Fee Waiver Request

In accordance with 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(4)(A) and GSA regulations, CREW requests a waiver of fees associated with processing this request for records. The subject of this request concerns the operations of the federal government, and the disclosures likely will contribute to a better understanding of relevant government procedures by CREW and the general public in a significant way. See 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(4)(A)(iii). Moreover, the request primarily and fundamentally is for non-commercial purposes. See, e.g., McClellan Ecological v. Carlucci, 835 F.2d 1282, 1285 (9th Cir. 1987).

On November 7, 2020, following the significant narrowing of uncounted votes in several swing states, media outlets projected that former Vice -President Joe Biden was the apparent winner of the 2020 presidential election.¹ The General Services Administration (GSA) plays a critical role in the presidential transition process both before and after Election Day. Pursuant to the Presidential Transition Act of 1963, as amended, GSA provides the President-elect's transition team with "a fully equipped headquarters" and a variety of services including "office space, telecommunications, IT services and equipment, and furnishings, supplies and other things they need to do their jobs."² The Act directs the GSA Administrator to "'ascertain'" the 'apparent successful candidates' for President and Vice President before the funds, services and facilities authorized by the Act become available to the Transition Team." As former GSA Administrator David Barram explained in testimony before Congress amidst the Florida election recount of 2000, "[w]hile the Act gives no explicit criteria or deadlines for making this ascertainment," he believed that some legislative history suggests that "if there is 'any question' of who the winner is 'in a close contest' this determination should not be made."³ Barram did not explain the terms "any question" or "close contest."

Despite media outlets projecting former Vice President Biden as the winner and now President-elect, GSA Administrator Murphy, a Trump political appointee, has not ascertained any apparent winner.⁴ According a statement from GSA, "An ascertainment has not yet been made," but Administrator Murphy "will continue to abide by, and fulfill, all requirements under the law."⁵ GSA internal orders from June 2012 state that GSA's Presidential Transition Support

Team (PTST) prepares, and on the day after the election, the Administrator signs, a “letter ascertaining the apparent successful candidates. If the Administrator is unable to ascertain the apparent winners of the election, all subsequent activity is held in abeyance until that determination is made and the letter is signed.”⁶

GSA does not appear to have any public guidance on its website explaining how the GSA Administrator should fulfill her mandate to “ascertain” the “apparent successful candidates” for President and Vice President in the 2020 election. The requested records will shed light on whether GSA has any non-public guidance on this critically important question to the presidential transition process. In particular, the records are likely to contribute to greater public understanding about whether GSA leadership has and is following appropriate guidance related to this question and whether former Vice President Biden should already have access to federal funds designated for the President-elect of the United States. The records will also shed light on whether GSA has received any communications from the White House or other federal agency regarding how to “ascertain” the “apparent successful candidates” before or after President Trump decided to contest the election results. Throughout the Trump presidency, Donald Trump and his political appointees have routinely bent, broken or ignored federal laws barring the coopting of federal resources for political purposes.⁷ Delaying the transition process would not only undermine America’s democracy, but could also have far reaching impacts on critical government functions like national security. The public deserves to know whether the Trump administration is following the law and effectively and transparently managing the 2020/2021 presidential transition.

CREW routinely and systematically disseminates information to the public in several ways. CREW's website receives tens of thousands of page views every month. The website includes a blog that reports on and analyzes newsworthy developments regarding government ethics, corruption, and money in politics, as well as numerous reports CREW has published to educate the public about these issues. In addition, CREW posts all documents it receives under the FOIA its website, and those documents have been visited hundreds of thousands of times.

Under these circumstances, CREW satisfies fully the criteria for a fee waiver.
