U.S. DOGE SERVICE, et al.,
Defendants.

Case No. 1:25-cv-00511

ANSWER

Defendants, by and through their undersigned counsel, hereby answer the numbered paragraphs of the complaint of Citizens for Responsibility and Ethics in Washington (CREW) as follows:

1. The first sentence of this paragraph refers to a post on the social media site X, which speaks for itself. Defendants refer the Court to that post for a full and accurate description of its contents. The remainder of this paragraph consists of legal conclusions, to which no response is required. To the extent a response is required, the remainder of this paragraph is denied.

2. The first two sentences of this paragraph consist of legal conclusions to which no response is required. The third sentence of this paragraph consists of legal conclusions to which no response is required but, to the extent a response is required, it is denied. The remainder of this paragraph, subparagraphs (a)-(g), and the accompanying footnotes consist of CREW's description of various news reports. Defendants refer the Court to those news articles for a full and accurate description of their contents except the United States DOGE Service (USDS) denies the remainder of this paragraph, including the sub-paragraphs, to the extent it alleges that USDS is acting contrary to the numerous Executive Orders and presidential memorandum that describes its limited, advisory role.

3. This paragraph is denied insofar as it states that USDS is subject to the requirements of the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) or the Federal Records Act (FRA). The first sentence of this paragraph is a legal conclusion to which no response is required. The last sentence of this paragraph is CREW's characterization of the FOIA correspondence in this case, to which no response is required, but to the extent a response is required, it is denied to the extent inconsistent with Defendants' responses to the subsequent paragraphs. The remainder of this paragraph consists of CREW's characterization of various federal statutes and a judicial decision. Defendants refer the Court to those sources for a full and accurate description of their contents.

4. This paragraph consists of legal conclusions to which no response is required. To the extent a response is required, it is denied.

5. This paragraph consists of CREW's characterization of this action, to which no response is required. To the extent a response is required, Defendants deny that CREW is entitled to the relief requested or any other relief.

6. This paragraph consists of Plaintiff's characterization of the preliminary injunction motion it filed, to which no response is required. To the extent a response is required, Defendants deny that CREW is or was entitled to the preliminary injunctive relief it sought or any other preliminary relief and otherwise deny the allegations in this paragraph (including the characterizations of USDS in this paragraph).

7. This paragraph consists of legal conclusions to which no response is required.

10. This paragraph consists of CREW's characterization of itself, to which no response is required. To the extent a response is required, Defendants deny this paragraph insofar as it alleges that USDS is subject to FOIA and the FRA and deny it to the extent it otherwise states that USDS is not in compliance with its legal obligations. Defendants otherwise lack knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief about the truth of the allegations in this paragraph.

11. The first sentence of this paragraph is a legal conclusion that does not require a response but, to the extent a response is required, it is denied. The second sentence is admitted. The third sentence is denied insofar as it alleges that USDS is responsible for fulfilling Plaintiff's FOIA requests, because USDS is not an "agency" subject to FOIA. The third sentence is also denied insofar as it alleges that USDS has possession and control of records from the former United States Digital Service.

12. In response to this paragraph, Defendants state that Amy Gleason is the Administrator of USDS and otherwise deny the allegations in this paragraph.

13. The first sentence of this paragraph is admitted. The second sentence of this paragraph is denied.
