The Honorable John A. Koskinen Commissioner Internal Revenue Service 1111 Constitution Ave., N.W. Washington, DC 20224

By electronic mail (IRS.Commissioner@IRS.gov) and First Class mail

Re: Complaint against The Government Integrity Fund, Inc.

Dear Commissioner Koskinen:

Citizens for Responsibility and Ethics in Washington ("CREW") respectfully requests the Internal Revenue Service ("IRS") investigate whether The Government Integrity Fund, Inc. ("GIF"), a non-profit organization exempt from taxation pursuant to section 501(c)(4) of the Internal Revenue Code ("Code"), is operated primarily to influence political campaigns in violation of the Code. CREW further requests the IRS investigate whether GIF and its chairman, Joel Riter, violated federal law by failing to disclose at least $2.45 million it spent on political activity in 2014, and whether GIF violated the Code by filing its 2014 tax return 14 months late. ¹

The amount of GIF's political spending in 2014 appears to have violated its tax-exempt status, and the group seems to have taken extraordinary steps to avoid disclosing information demonstrating that fact. GIF's 2014 tax return was due in May 2015, but it failed to file it until July 2016. And the tax return GIF finally did file left out millions of dollars in political expenditures – missing spending that is critical to GIF's apparent attempt to conceal its violation of its tax-exempt status.

While GIF admitted to donating more than $1.13 million to political action committees in 2014, it failed to disclose an additional $615,798 in similar contributions, according to Federal Election Commission ("FEC") filings. GIF also contributed $735,000 to a non-profit organization that the recipient group admitted to having used immediately for political expenditures, but GIF did not report that spending as political activity. Just accounting for all of GIF's political contributions, political expenditures make up at least 55% of the group's overall spending in 2014. GIF also paid between $1.1 and $1.4 million dollars for television advertisements supporting a candidate for the Arkansas Senate seat, but again failed to report it as political activity. That spending also is political, ultimately making political expenditures account for as much as 86.7% of GIF's overall spending.

As a result, politics appears to have been GIF's primary activity in 2014, a violation of its tax-exempt status. In addition, GIF appears to have violated the Code by filing its tax return 14 months late, and both GIF and Mr. Riter appear to have violated federal law by making false representations to the IRS.

The Government Integrity Fund, Inc.'s Political Activity

GIF is a non-profit corporation established in 2011 in Ohio and granted tax-exempt status in January 2012.² Mr. Riter is the group's chairman.³ Mr. Riter also is an officer or director of several other section 501(c)(4) organizations and political action committees, and has experience filing Form 990 tax forms and campaign finance disclosure reports. For example, Mr. Riter serves as president of Citizens for a Working America Inc. ("CWA"), as director and secretary for the Foundation for Economic Prosperity Inc., and as treasurer of the Concrete and Portland Cement Action Network.⁴

During 2014, GIF made a total of $1,749,066 in contributions to four political action committees, according to reports those organizations filed with the FEC. Mr. Riter or GIF appear to be involved with three of those groups. Between April 18 and May 15, 2014, GIF made two contributions to The Government Integrity Fund Action Network ("GIFAN") totaling $1,055,000, according to reports GIFAN filed with the FEC.⁵ Even though GIF has not identified GIFAN as a related entity on its tax returns, GIFAN's name strongly suggests it is closely tied to GIF. GIFAN is a federal independent expenditure-only political committee, commonly known as a super PAC.⁶ Super PACs are organized and operated primarily for the purpose of making independent political expenditures, and thus are political organizations under section 527.⁷

GIF also contributed a total of $444,006 to Citizens for a Working America PAC ("CWA PAC") between June 26 and July 15, 2014,8 gave $85,000 to the Concrete and Portland Cement

While CWA has not identified CWA PAC as a related entity on its tax returns, its name strongly suggests it is closely tied to CWA.

Action Network on September 29, 2014, and made two contributions totaling $165,000 to the Hometown Freedom Action Network on September 29 and 30, 2014. CWA PAC, the Concrete and Portland Cement Action Network, and Hometown Freedom Action Network are all super PACs.

In addition to these super PAC contributions, GIF donated hundreds of thousands of dollars to a section 501(c)(4) organization that the recipient group immediately spent on political campaign activity. On October 20, 2014, the Mid America Fund ("MAF"), a section 501(c)(4) organization, received $435,000 from GIF, plus another $125,000 from the Republican Governors Association, according to a report MAF filed with the Rhode Island Board of Elections. The next day, MAF spent $557,420 – almost the exact same amount it received – for a political expenditure intended to defeat the Democratic candidate running for Rhode Island governor, Gina Raimondo. On October 31, 2014, MAF engaged in a similar set of transactions, receiving $300,000 from GIF and spending $302,500 on an expenditure intended to defeat Ms. Raimondo, according to another report MAF filed with the Rhode Island Board of Elections. MAF acknowledged the spending was political on its tax returns, reporting it paid this money to a Republican ad firm for "production and media" of "independent expenditures."

In all, GIF contributed $2,484,066 to the four super PACs and MAF. In addition to these political contributions, GIF spent more than $1 million on advertisements supporting then-Rep. Tom Cotton (R-AR) in his successful run for Senate. As noted, GIF contributed $1,055,000 in 2014 to GIFAN, a super PAC. GIFAN in turn spent $1,047,880 on "broadcast/cable and digital advertising" independent expenditures supporting now-Sen. Cotton. One of GIFAN's ads praised Sen. Cotton's military service, saying: "Tom Cotton has always served our country with honor, integrity, and character. It's something Washington could use a little more of." The ad concluded with the on-screen words, "Tom Cotton. For Arkansas." The separate ad apparently run by GIF was nearly identical to GIFAN's, with only a small change to the conclusion in a transparent attempt to make it appear related to issues rather than politics. GIF's ad is word-forword and image-for-image the same as GIFAN's until the conclusion, when it instead finishes with the on-screen message, "call Representative Tom Cotton (202) 225-3772 keep fighting Obamacare and bailouts."

It is not known exactly how much GIF spent to run the ad or when it was broadcast. According to a July 1, 2014 Politico story, GIF planned to spend $1.1 million to run the ads.²² In addition, GIF reported to the IRS it spent $1,399,123 on "issues communications" in 2014,²³ at least some which appears to have been for the pro-Cotton ad buy. GIF reported paying that same amount to Target Enterprises for "consulting,"²⁴ and contracts filed with the Federal Communications Commission show that Target Enterprises purchased air time for GIF in Arkansas in July 2014.²⁵

The Politico story also reported that starting on July 11, 2014, GIF would run ads boosting Sen. Cotton "over the next six weeks." If the ads ran for those six weeks, they would have ended around August 22, 2014, two weeks before the beginning of the 60-day pre-election period during which ads like GIF's would have had to be reported as electioneering communications to the FEC. 27

The Government Integrity Fund, Inc.'s Failure to File Its Tax Return on Time

As a section 501(c)(4) tax-exempt organization, GIF is required to file annual Form 990 tax returns. The tax returns must be filed within four and a half months after the end of the organization's fiscal year. For organizations like GIF that use a calendar year cycle, the annual

Form 990 is due on May 15 of the following year.³⁰ The IRS automatically grants one three-month extension, and tax-exempt organizations may request – and are routinely granted – a second three-month extension for reasonable cause.³¹

GIF's 2014 Form 990 was due May 15, 2015. The publicly-available copy of GIF's 2014 tax return does not show any requested or granted extensions.³² However, GIF failed to file the tax return until July 10, 2016, nearly 14 months late.³³

It is not even clear that GIF would have filed its 2014 tax return at all if not for repeated requests for it by a member of the news media. Only after Open Secrets asked GIF for its 2014 tax return multiple times did GIF's attorney say that it would file the Form 990.³⁴

This also is not the first time GIF has filed its tax return far past the deadline. In fact, GIF has never filed a tax return even close to on time. GIF's 2012 Form 990, the first one it needed to file, was due May 15, 2013. GIF did not request an extension, but failed to file its tax return until January 13, 2014 at earliest, nearly eight months late.³⁵ GIF sent a letter with the Form 990 that "sincerely apologize[d] for filing late" and asked the IRS to take into account several "issues" in "assessing a penalty."³⁶ GIF further assured the IRS it had hired an accountant to complete its 2012 and subsequent returns, and said "[t]here should not be any issued [sic] with filing the returns timely in the future."³⁷

Despite these assurances, GIF filed its 2013 Form 990 similarly late, just as it did for its 2014 tax return, as discussed above. GIF's 2013 tax return was due May 15, 2014, but the group did not file it until at least February 19, 2015.³⁸

The Government Integrity Fund, Inc.'s Representations to the IRS

As part of the annual Form 990 tax returns section 501(c)(4) organizations like GIF are required to file, tax-exempt groups engaged in any "direct or indirect political campaign activities on behalf of or in opposition to candidates for public office" must file a Schedule C, which requires disclosure of the amount spent on "political expenditures."³⁹ "Political expenditures" include all "political campaign activities" – defined as "[a]ll activities that support or oppose candidates for elective federal, state, or local public office."⁴⁰ Reflecting this definition, Schedule C specifically requires disclosure of "all section 527 organizations to which the filing organization made payments."⁴¹

According to GIF's 2014 tax return, signed by Mr. Riter on July 10, 2016 under penalty of perjury, the group spent a total of $4,477,409 during 2014.⁴² GIF filed a Schedule C with the tax return disclosing $1,133,208 in political expenditures.⁴³ This amount reflects part of the contributions GIF made to GIFAN, as well as the contributions it made to the Hometown Freedom Action Network and the Concrete and Portland Cement Action Network.⁴⁴

The information GIF reported on its Schedule C, however, omitted significant amounts of the group's spending on political activities. First, GIF underreported the amount it contributed to GIFAN, claiming it only contributed $883,208 – $171,792 less than GIFAN reported in its FEC filings that it received from GIF. Second, GIF did not report the $444,006 it contributed to CWA PAC on its Schedule C, instead listing on its Schedule I a $410,000 grant to CWA, the similarly-named section 501(c)(4) organization. Third, GIF failed to report on its Schedule C the $735,000 it contributed to MAF that was immediately used for political expenditures in Rhode Island, instead listing a $775,000 grant to MAF on its Schedule I. Finally, GIF did not report any of its spending on the ad praising Sen. Cotton as political. Rather, it asserted the $1,399,123 it apparently spent on the "issues communication[]" ad was a "program service expense" that promoted social welfare.

Political Activity Under Section 501(c)(4)

Section 501(c)(4) provides tax-exempt status to organizations "not organized for profit but operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare." IRS regulations interpret the statute to mean a section 501(c)(4) organization must be "primarily engaged in promoting in some way the common good and general welfare of the people of the community."⁴⁹ The regulations further provide that "direct or indirect participation or intervention in political campaigns on behalf of or in opposition to any candidate for public office" does not promote social welfare.⁵⁰

Jack Kingston, a candidate in the 2014 Georgia Republican Senate runoff. Citizens for a Working America PAC, FEC Form 3x, 2014 October Quarterly Report, Oct. 15, 2014. GIF's erroneous disclosure of a $410,000 grant to CWA on its Schedule I leaves out this in-kind contribution.

The IRS has not further defined the "primary activity" standard, and provides only that all the facts and circumstances are to be taken into account in determining the "primary activity" of a section 501(c)(4) organization.⁵¹ Internal IRS training materials, however, assert section 501(c) organizations (other than section 501(c)(3) charities) "may generally make expenditures for political activities as long as such activities, in conjunction with any other non-qualifying activities, do not constitute the organization's primary activity (51%)."⁵²

Contributions to political organizations are direct or indirect participation or intervention in political campaigns. "Contributions to political campaign funds . . . clearly violate the prohibition on political campaign intervention" for section 501(c)(3) organizations, ⁵³ and prohibited political intervention for section 501(c)(3) organizations constitutes political activity for section 501(c)(4) groups like GIF. ⁵⁴ Accordingly, GIF's contributions to GIFAN, CWA PAC, Hometown Freedom Action Network, and the Concrete and Portland Cement Action Network all constitute political campaign activities. In addition, even though MAF is not a political committee, GIF's contributions to MAF were immediately used for political expenditures. As a result, those contributions should be treated as political spending.

GIF's advertisement supporting Sen. Cotton also appears to constitute political activity. Advertisements and other communications that support or oppose a candidate but stop short of expressly advocating for or against the candidate's election also can constitute political campaign

Rul. 81-95 (citing examples of political intervention prohibited under section 501(c)(3) in determining political activity for section 501(c)(4) organizations); Priv. Ltr. Rul. 9652026 (Oct. 1, 1996) ("[A]ny activities constituting prohibited political intervention by a section 501(c)(3) organization are activities that must be less than the primary activities of a section 501(c)(4) organization.").

intervention. In Revenue Ruling 2007-41, the IRS promulgated guidance on the distinction between issue advocacy and political campaign intervention. The IRS takes into consideration all the facts and circumstances of a particular communication and identified the key factors as: (1) whether the statement identifies one or more candidates; (2) whether the statement expresses approval or disapproval for a candidate's position; (3) whether the statement is delivered close to an election; (4) whether the statement makes reference to voting or an election; (5) whether the issue addressed has been raised as an issue distinguishing candidates for an office; (6) whether the communication is part of an ongoing series of communications by the organization on the issue that are made independent of the timing of any election; and (7) whether the timing of the communication is related to a non-electoral event such as a scheduled vote on specific legislation by an officeholder running in an election.⁵⁵

GIF's advertisement identified then-Rep. Cotton, a candidate in the general election, was broadcast close to the election (but seemingly timed to avoided triggering FEC disclosure requirements), and expressed approval of Rep. Cotton and his positions. The timing of the advertisement also was not related to any non-electoral event, and it does not appear the ad was part of an ongoing series of communications by GIF on the issues of "Obamacare" or "bailouts." GIF's support for GIFAN and its pro-Cotton advertising, conducted before GIF ran its own advertisement, further suggests the ad was political. Moreover, the strong similarity between GIF's ad and the unquestionably political one broadcast by GIFAN also indicates GIF's ad was political. Despite these factors showing the ad was political, GIF maintained the advertisement was "issues communication[]" that promoted social welfare and not political activity. ⁵⁶

GIF's failure to correctly classify all of its political spending is critical to its apparent attempt to avoid violating its tax-exempt status. If only the $1,133,208 GIF admitted spending on political activity is counted, 25.3% of GIF's 2014 expenditures would have been political activity. However, GIF's additional contributions to the super PACs and to MAF clearly are political, and must be counted in evaluating GIF's spending. Including this spending increases GIF's total spending on political activity to $2,484,006, or 55.5% of its 2014 expenditures. GIF's advertisement supporting Sen. Cotton further increases its total political spending. Even if GIF only spent $1.1 million on the ads, as reported by Politico, GIF's 2014 political spending would be $3,584,006, or 80% of its total expenditures. GIF's tax return, however, suggests it spent $1,399,123 on those ads, which would make GIF's 2014 political spending $3,883,129 – 86.7% of its total spending.

Violations

26 U.S.C. § 501(c)(4)

Even under the IRS's misinterpretation of section 501(c)(4), and certainly under the plain language of the statute, GIF's political activity in the 2014 election cycle exceeded the amount permitted, violating the organization's tax-exempt status. If only GIF's contributions to super PACs and MAF are counted, its 2014 political spending constituted 55.5% of its total spending. GIF's spending on the ad supporting Sen. Cotton also was political, and thus its political spending was either 80% or 86.7% of its total spending in 2014.

26 U.S.C. § 6033

Tax-exempt organizations are required to file annual Form 990 tax returns, and must file them on time.⁵⁷ Those tax returns are due within four and a half months after the end of the organization's fiscal year.⁵⁸ Tax-exempt organization with more than $1 million in gross receipts may be penalized up to $100 per day for filing late.⁵⁹

GIF's 2014 tax return was due May 15, 2015, but the group did not file until at least July 10, 2016, 422 days later. The publicly available copy of GIF's tax return does not show any requested or granted extensions, and even if GIF was granted six months of extensions (the maximum permitted), its 2014 tax return still was nearly eight months late. In addition, GIF's gross receipts were more than $1 million. As a result, GIF's should be penalized at least $42,200 for failing to file its 2014 tax return on time. GIF also filed its filed its 2012 tax return 243 days late, and even after assuring the IRS its returns would be filed on time in the future, filed its 2013 tax return at least 280 days late. The IRS should therefore consider imposing additional penalties on GIF.

26 U.S.C. § 6652

Under the Code, a tax-exempt organization that, without reasonable cause, fails to include any of the information required on a Form 990 tax return or fails to provide the correct information, is liable for civil penalties. GIF failed to report as political campaign activities on its 2014 tax return: (1) the additional $171,792 it contributed to GIFAN; (2) its $444,006 contribution to CWA PAC; (3) the $735,000 it contributed to MAF that was immediately used for political expenditures; and (4) the between $1,100,000 and $1,399,123 it spent on the pro-Cotton ad. Accordingly, GIF appears to have violated 26 U.S.C. § 6652 and should be subject to monetary penalties.

26 U.S.C. § 7206

matter," is guilty of a felony and subject to up to three years in prison and a fine of up to $100,000.⁶² The money spent on political campaign activities a tax-exempt organization reports to the IRS on its Schedule C is material for several reasons, including: (1) the amounts reported can be used by the IRS to determine whether the organization is complying with its tax-exempt status; (2) the amount an organization expended on section 527 exempt activities in part determines exempt function taxes the organization must pay;⁶³ and (3) accurate public disclosure of the amount of political activity conducted by tax-exempt organizations is critical to the objective of transparency that underlies the reporting required on Form 990.⁶⁴

GIF's 2014 Form 990 was signed by Mr. Riter under a written declaration that it was made under penalty of perjury, and that Mr. Riter had examined the return and it was true, correct, and complete to the best of his knowledge.⁶⁵ The tax return, however, appears to be false and incorrect as to the material matter of the amount GIF spent on political campaign activities in 2014.

GIF's representations appear to be willful. As chairman of GIF, president of CWA, and an officer or director of other tax-exempt organizations, Mr. Riter has significant experience filing Form 990 tax returns. In addition, Mr. Riter is familiar with political campaign activities as an officer, director, or treasurer of several political action committees. GIF claimed it contributed $171,792 less than it actually gave to GIFAN, and reported contributions to CWA PAC, another super PAC, as contributions to the non-profit CWA on its Schedule I. GIF or Mr. Riter have relationships with these groups, making it unlikely the misrepresentations on GIF's tax return were accidental. GIF also failed to report contributions to another non-profit that were immediately used for political expenditures on its Schedule C and, despite strong evidence to the contrary, claimed that the advertisement supporting Sen. Cotton was a non-political "issues communication[]." Moreover, GIF had a strong motive to misrepresent its political spending — counting them makes the group's political spending more than 50% of its total expenditures, a violation of its tax-exempt status. Accordingly, the amount GIF reported spending on political activity appears to be willfully false.

Federal law further prohibits anyone from "knowingly and willfully" making "any materially false, fictitious, or fraudulent statement or representation" in any matter within the jurisdiction of the executive, legislative, or judicial branch. The prohibition also includes anyone who "falsifies, conceals, or covers up by any trick, scheme, or device a material fact." Violations are punishable by up to five years in prison. By falsely stating the amount GIF spent on political campaign activities in 2014, Mr. Riter and GIF appear to have violated 18 U.S.C. § 1001.

Conclusion

Based on the publicly available information, GIF's activities do not comport with its claimed status as a section 501(c)(4) tax-exempt organization. Therefore, the IRS should investigate GIF and, should it find that GIF has violated its tax-exempt status, take appropriate action, which may include revoking its section 501(c)(4) status, imposing any applicable excise taxes under section 4958 for excess benefit transactions, and treating GIF as a taxable corporation or a section 527 political organization. Further, it appears GIF and Mr. Riter falsely represented the amount GIF spent on political activity in 2014 on its tax return. The IRS also should investigate GIF and Mr. Riter and, should it find they made false or incomplete statements on GIF's tax return, take appropriate action, including but not limited to referring this matter to the Department of Justice for prosecution. GIF also filed its 2014 tax return at least 422 days late and apparently was not granted any extensions, and filed its 2012 and 2013 tax returns months late, and thus should be liable for at least $42,200 in penalties.

Thank you for your prompt attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
