Please search for responsive records regardless of format, medium, or physical characteristics. We seek records of any kind, including paper records, electronic records, audiotapes, videotapes, photographs, data, and graphical material. Our request includes without limitation all correspondence, letters, emails, text messages, facsimiles, telephone messages, voice mail messages, and transcripts, notes, or minutes of any meetings, telephone conversations,

If it is your position that a document contains non-exempt segments, but that those non-exempt segments are so dispersed throughout the document as to make segregation impossible, please state what portion of the document is non-exempt, and how the material is dispersed throughout the document. See Mead Data Central v. U.S. Dep't of the Air Force, 566 F.2d 242, 261 (D.C. Cir. 1977).

Fee Waiver Request

In accordance with 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(4)(A) and HUD regulations, CREW requests a waiver of fees associated with processing this request for records. The subject of this request concerns the operations of the federal government, and the disclosures likely will contribute to a better understanding of relevant government procedures by CREW and the general public in a significant way. See 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(4)(A)(iii). Moreover, the request primarily and fundamentally is for non-commercial purposes. See, e.g., McClellan Ecological v. Carlucci, 835 F.2d 1282, 1285 (9th Cir. 1987).

On September 1, 2019, while the nation was gripped with fear and concern over the path of Hurricane Dorian, President Trump issued a warning on Twitter that Alabama, among other states, could be hit by the hurricane “(much) harder than anticipated.”<sup>1</sup> The local Alabama National Weather Service, responding to the false information the President had disseminated, quickly tweeted that “Alabama will NOT see any impacts from #Dorian,” and further, “We repeat, no impacts from Hurricane #Dorian will be felt across Alabama.”<sup>2</sup> President Trump, however, refused to back off his inaccurate tweet, going so far as to alter an official NOAA map with a Sharpie to falsely show Alabama as in the hurricane’s path, which he displayed during a briefing in the Oval Office.<sup>3</sup> The White House also issued a statement from Rear Adm. Peter Brown, a Homeland Security and counterterrorism adviser, who said he had briefed President Trump multiple times about Hurricane Dorian and models that showed “possible storm impacts well outside the official forecast cone.”<sup>4</sup>

On September 6, 2019, NOAA injected itself into the raging controversy over the President's refusal to back down from his inaccurate claim concerning Alabama as within the hurricane's path. Specifically, NOAA issued the following statement:

From Wednesday, August 28, through Monday, September 2, the information provided by NOAA and the National Hurricane Center to President Trump and the wider public demonstrated that tropical-storm-force winds from Hurricane Dorian could impact Alabama. This is clearly demonstrated by Hurricane Advisories #15 through #41 . . .

The Birmingham National Weather Service's Sunday morning tweet spoke in absolute terms that were inconsistent with probabilities from the best forecast products available at the time.<sup>5</sup>

These actions have provoked outrage and concern that the administration has forsaken science to provide political cover for President Trump, at a potential risk to the American public. The requested records will shed light on the extent to which HUD was involved with or influenced by the President's inaccurate statements about the hurricane's path in addressing the risks Hurricane Dorian posed to HUD programs, initiatives, and policies.
